

Kittery Adopts a Transgender and Gender Expansive Policy

Use The Kittery Policy to Make Your School's Policy Inclusive!

Kittery is the most recent school system to approve of a Transgender and Gender Expansive Policy that will make Kittery schools safer and more respectful for all students. Both Portland and South Portland also passed policies last November.

The Policy provides clear guidelines for respecting the privacy of transgender and gender expansive students, using expressed names and pronouns when requested in writing, and ensuring inclusive academic and extracurricular programs so all enjoy educational opportunities. The Policy recognizes the school's obligation to create a safe and inclusive learning environment by supporting the student's gender identity while at school.

These policies are good models for schools across the state. Having a policy means addressing these issues in communities and translating the legal obligations under state law into local policy and school handbooks. Want to follow in the footsteps of these school districts and work to make your school's policy trans and gender expansive inclusive? Why not use these policies to make changes in your school too!

- Students are permitted to use restrooms, locker rooms and changing facilities corresponding with their gender identity
- Students and their parents or guardians may contact school personnel to make an additional support plan for the student
- The school district will abide by the wishes of the student while at school in the event that the student and their parent do not agree on the student's gender identity or expression to provide learning environment without discrimination
